A Well-Deserved Promotion!

Prof. Arhoghro Ejovwoke Marcellinus

We are pleased to announce the promotion of Prof. Arhoghro Ejovwoke Marcellinus, Ph.D., to the esteemed rank of Professor of Medical Biochemistry at Niger Delta University (NDU), Wilberforce Island, Bayelsa State, Nigeria. This promotion reflects his exceptional academic accomplishments, profound contributions to the field of biomedical sciences, and unwavering dedication to community service.

Prof. Arhoghro's Academic Journey and Achievements

Prof. Arhoghro's career has been marked by excellence and leadership. He holds a B.Sc., M.Sc., and Ph.D. in Biochemistry from the University of Port Harcourt, where he graduated with second class upper division honors and was awarded the prestigious Omogbai Award as the best graduating student. His academic journey has shaped him into a leading scholar with over 60 peer-reviewed publications, with a focus on oxidative stress, drug-induced organ damage, and the therapeutic potential of indigenous medicinal plants. His work continues to advance the understanding of phytomedicine, toxicology, and translational biochemistry in Sub-Saharan Africa.

As a Professor of Medical Biochemistry and Sub-Dean of the Faculty of Basic Medical Sciences at Niger Delta University, Prof. Arhoghro remains dedicated to mentoring the next generation of medical, biomedical, and healthcare professionals. His teaching and research in General Biochemistry, Clinical Biochemistry, and Environmental Biochemistry continue to shape the curricula and academic standards at the university.

Beyond Academia: Leadership in Renewable Energy and Community Service

Prof. Arhoghro's influence extends beyond academia. He serves as the Director of Projects & Operations at KAM Renewable Energy Solutions Ltd., where he is overseeing the development of the Sampou 1.5MW solar power station project. This renewable energy initiative aims to provide sustainable electricity to underserved rural communities, transforming local healthcare, education, and infrastructure.

Prof. Arhoghro's leadership also spans his role as 2nd Vice President of the Catholic Men Organisation (CMO) in the Benin Ecclesiastical Province. His faith-driven approach to leadership is reflected in his service to Catholic youth and his involvement in various charitable outreach programs. In addition, as a Special Marshal of the Federal Road Safety Corps (FRSC), Prof. Arhoghro actively promotes safety, responsible citizenship, and health initiatives.

A Visionary Scholar-Servant

Prof. Arhoghro's promotion to the rank of Professor of Medical Biochemistry is a testament to his exceptional contributions to biomedical research, renewable energy, and community service. His passion for sustainability, public health, and faith-based leadership has inspired those around him, and his continued efforts will shape the future of biochemistry, renewable energy, and community empowerment.

Appointment Letter (From p.1)

Dear Hon. (Prof.) Stephen Sinikiem Azaiki, PhD, DSc, OON,
Co-Chairman/National Coordinator – National Think Tank Nigeria
Honorable Member, House of Representatives of the Federal Republic of Nigeria
(Yenagoa/KOLGA Federal Constituency, 2019 - 2023)

Prof. Steve Azaiki

With unwavering pride and profound respect, I write on behalf of the Ijaw Diaspora Council to extend to you an official appointment as a Board Member of our esteemed organization.

This appointment is not a ceremonial gesture, it is as a matter of, a clarion call to leadership. It is an emphatic acknowledgment of your unwavering commitment, strategic insight, and passionate advocacy for both the Ijaw Diaspora Council and the Ijaw Nation at large. Your voice, presence, and legacy have long resonated with the heartbeat of our people, and now, your wisdom shall help shape our collective future.

We believe this moment is historic, not just for the Ijaw Diaspora Council, but for the unfolding destiny of the Ijaw people. Together, we stand on the shoulders of the great visionaries who dared to dream of an Ijaw Nation empowered in truth, united in purpose, and elevated in global influence. Your place among us is both earned and essential.

As we move forward in bold collaboration, we trust that your unique perspective and dedication will help strengthen our mission across education, economic empowerment, cultural renaissance, and global diplomacy. Let this appointment rekindle in us all a deeper patriotic fire and an unstoppable resolve.

We are grateful, Professor Stephen Sinikiem Azaiki, and we look forward with excitement to working alongside you. May the Almighty continue to grant us divine wisdom, uncommon resources, and unshakable unity as we advance the sacred vision of our Founding Fathers.

With highest regards and solidarity,
Professor Mondy Selle Gold, CFP, PhD, PhD, FCILG, FEBS

Promoting Comparative Education, Science and Technology in the 4th Industrial Revolution

From the depth of need and despair, people can work together, can organize themselves to solve their own problems and fill their own needs with dignity and strength - Cesar Chavez.

The International Society of Comparative Education, Science and Technology (ISCEST) is convening its XII Annual International Conference from 01 December to 03 December 2025 in Yenagoa, Bayelsa State, Nigeria.. The conference will be presented as a hybrid event to allow those who are unable to attend in person, to still participate. The theme for this year's conference is Promoting Comparative Education, Science and Technology in the 4th Industrial Revolution. Academics, researchers, teachers, students, consultants, policy makers, curriculum developers and other interested professionals are all invited to participate.

Industry 4.0, also known as the 4th Industrial Revolution, is a topical issue for all developed, developing and not-so-developed countries around the world. It cannot be ignored and must therefore be a topic of discussion for all Ministries of Education. One way to explore Industry 4.0 is to examine its characteristics, machinations, procedures and progress via the lens of Comparative Education (CE). Industry 4.0 is making headlines across the globe, including Africa nations. The rapid rise in digitalisation has brought renewed attention to the importance of connectivity, analytics, automation and manufacturing technology in national development.

The theme of this conference lends itself to comparisons of various kinds in education, science and technology. There is no limit to the perspectives that conference participants can take to develop their paper presentations and related discussions. Papers may be of an investigative or descriptive nature. The settings selected for the papers may be local or community, national, regional or international, regardless of the theme chosen for discussion.

Papers developed from the any of the themes have the opportunity to be published in the Conference Proceedings Booklet. Best papers from the booklet will be peer-reviewed for publication in the official ISCEST Journal, Current Studies in Comparative Education, Science and Technology (CSCEST).

A Birthday Tribute to Hon. (Prof.) Stephen Sinikem Azaiki, PhD, DSc, OON On Behalf of the Ijaw Diaspora Council

Dear Honorable Professor Stephen Sinikem Azaiki,

On this day marked by your birth, the Ijaw Diaspora Council joins hearts and hands across continents to salute your life, your vision, and your enduring contributions to our beloved Ijaw Nation. Your journey has never been ordinary. From the banks of the Niger Delta to the hallowed halls of national and global service, you have exemplified what it means to walk with purpose and to lead with wisdom.

As one of our most revered leaders, you have stood as a bridge between tradition and transformation. Your steadfast service as a Member of the Federal House of Representatives and as Co-Chairman of the National Think Tank has ignited minds, influenced policy, and uplifted communities. Your leadership continues to serve as a compass for those of us committed to justice, cultural dignity, and the advancement of Ijaw people everywhere. Today, we do more than simply celebrate your birthday. We renew our commitment to walk beside you in the journey of building an empowered, united, and globally influential Ijaw Nation.

Let it be eternally remembered that your voice is not merely respected; it is vital to the soul of our movement. Your counsel is not only valued; it is indispensable to the architecture of our shared vision. As a cherished leader and now an esteemed Board Member of the Ijaw Diaspora Council, your luminous presence shall illuminate our path through uncertain tides and guide us into a season of catalytic influence, generational reawakening, and redemptive justice.

May this new year of your life unfold with divine favor, strategic clarity, and the quiet joy of witnessing the seeds you have sown bear eternal fruit. We walk beside you with faith unshaken, as custodians of a sacred covenant to uplift, unify, and globalize the Ijaw spirit.

With deepest respect and brotherly celebration,

Mondy Gold
